MYSTERY IN ADM. EATON'S DEATH

LOCAL DRUGGIST IS MISSING

Arthur J. Drouin Has Been Gone Over a Week—Store Closed and Friends Are Anxious

The many friends of Arthur J. Drouin, who conducted a drug store at the corner of Little Avenue and West Sixth street, are in a quandary over his disappearance which occurred a week ago last Monday.

Mr. Drouin made his home with his sister, Mrs. Jeanne Leinenweber, 758 Lakeview Avenue. He opened a drug store at 1 Little Avenue a couple of years ago, and business seemed to be very good. On Monday morning he left his home at his usual time saying he was going to the store, but he did not go there and has not been seen or heard from since. It was at first thought that the young man had gone to Lowell. Some are of the opinion that he is visiting friends in other cities and will soon return.

FACES MURDER CHARGE

Man Going to Juneau, Alaska, for Trial

SEATTLE, Wash., March 12.—Joseph McDonald, general manager of the Consolidated Mining Co. at Guanajuato, Mexico, who is now journeying under extradition to Juneau, Alaska, to be tried on a charge of murder, was indicted last December for killing Deputy U. S. Marshal Jones at Treadwell, Alaska, May 14, 1902. Jones, who was connected with a mission, annoyed McDonald by urging him to close down on Sunday the Great Treadwell gold mines of which he was superintendent "so as not to incur the wrath of God." A coroner's jury exonerated McDonald and a federal grand jury failed to indict him at the time. After McDonald had gone to Mexico friends and relatives of Jones appealed to the department of justice at Washington and succeeded in having the case taken up again.

IRELAND A NATION

Are you a friend of Ireland? Are you a friend of human liberty? Then here is an opportunity of proving your love for Ireland and for liberty.

The United Irish League of Lowell is conducting a campaign which is to culminate in a monster free meeting to be held in Associate Hall, Sunday evening, March 16, which will be addressed by Hon. P. J. O'Keefe of Cheyenne, a man of national prominence, who cherishes among his noblest memories the time he spent in jail for love of Ireland.

Ireland seems at last to sweep on to a glorious victory, and it is a privilege to all who truly love her or the cause of liberty to help her in this final struggle for Home Rule.

The Irish parliamentary party could not conduct the strenuous campaigns of years were it not for the unselfish devotion of thousands all over the world who give them financial aid.

Though victory is not absolutely assured, the long struggle against wealth, prejudice and injustice, has never assumed a more commanding position than now, and the United Irish League of Lowell, in order to aid in bringing about ultimate success, appeals publicly to all friends of Ireland to unite in helping her on to a final triumph.

That no one may want for an opportunity, subjoined is a coupon which may be cut out and enclosed with your contribution to:

The Treasurer United Irish League,

Care Lowell Trust Co., Lowell, Mass.

All who contribute one dollar or more will receive a beautifully engraved receipt suitable for preservation as a souvenir of this campaign for the cause of Ireland.

ALLIED BALKAN NATIONS AGREE TO ACCEPT MEDIATION OF POWERS

Consent Depends on Agreement of Turkey to Surrender Adrianople, Scutari and Islands

BELGRADE, Serbia, March 12.—The allied Balkan nations have agreed to accept the mediation of the powers in order to bring about the termination of hostilities, according to a well informed source here. Their consent, however, depends on the agreement of Turkey to surrender the fortresses of Adrianople and Scutari and the islands in the Aegean sea and also to pay a war indemnity.

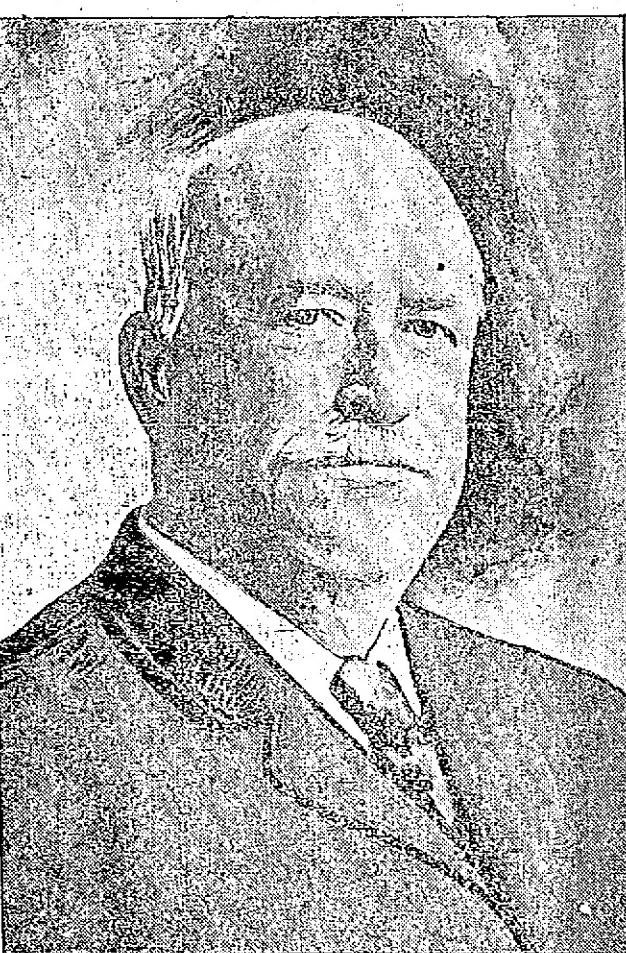

Turks are suffering

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 12.—A despairing cry of "I can hold out only for another week" is alleged to have been uttered by Shukri Pasha, the Turkish commander of the fortress of Adrianople, which has held out for so many months against the terrible bombardment by the Bulgarian and Serbian troops surrounding the city. Shukri Pasha, it is said, informed the Porte that Adrianople was nearing the end of its supplies of food and ammunition and there is much sickness, especially scurvy and diarrhoea among the defendants.

The commander urges that either the peace negotiations should be hastened in order to save the fortress

THE LATE FREEMAN B. SHEDD

Noted Benefactor of His City Died in Florida—Shedd Park Will be

His Greatest Memorial

Freeman Ballard Shedd, citizen soldier, philanthropist and friend passed away yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, at Miami, Florida. He passed on calmly and quietly to the peaceful shades of eternal rest, and Lowell mourns the loss of a good and faithful son. None knew him but to love him, for his sterling Christian manhood. None knew him but to praise him for his honor and strength of character.

and those who knew him well recollect upon him in later years and it has been said by doctor friends of his that he would have succumbed years ago but for his wonderful vitality. Mr. Shedd had dictated himself for the last eighteen or twenty years and having a pretty thorough knowledge of medicine he knew how to care for himself properly. He denied himself a great many things that many other men in

REAR ADMIRAL EATON BURIED

In Oaklawn Cemetery, Dracut—Cause of His Sudden Death Being Investigated greeted that a report to that effect had been circulated.

The widow was the admiral's second wife and was formerly the wife of Dr. H. Ainsworth, once a clerk in the United States Senate and later engaged in business in Boston. Her father was George Harrison, and the family home was at Alexandria, Va. Mrs. Eaton is 40 years of age.

Later Mrs. Eaton added to her earlier statement:

"I cannot account for whatever mystery surrounds the death of Admiral Eaton. It was certainly a singular affair. We believed that death was due to natural causes. The family realized, of course, that he had not been in good health for the past three years but we were not alarmed at his condition.

Admiral Eaton died suddenly early Saturday. At the time death was ascribed to acute indigestion. The same day, however, the authorities began an inquiry, the basis for which has not been disclosed.

Dr. Joseph Frame, the attending physician, would say only that he found the admiral ill on Friday night. He would not state the nature of the ailment. From him the matter went to Medical Examiner Gilman Osgood.

Dr. Osgood today said:

"I can only say that I performed an autopsy Saturday and made a report to the district attorney, as is required in all such cases."

District Attorney Albert Barker was even more reticent. He said:

"I can say nothing whatever regarding this case at present."

The widow was distressed over reports that her husband might have died of poisoning.

"I cannot account for whatever mystery surrounds the death of Admiral Eaton," she said. "We believed that death was due to natural causes."

The admiral's life was saddened years ago by the death of his foster child, Joseph Giles Eaton, adopted as an infant. Mrs. Eaton feared that the child had been poisoned, but the admiral never accepted this theory and a chemical analysis of the stomach's contents proved that he was right.

The body was taken in charge by Undertaker Saunders on reaching the depot on the 12.07 p. m. train and only one hack accompanied the hearse to the cemetery. In this hack were Mrs. Eaton, her daughter by a former husband, and two other friends.

Investigating Cause of Death

NORWELL, March 12.—It became known today that an investigation was begun a few hours after the sudden death last Saturday of Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, U. S. N. (retired). The basis for the inquiry was not made known. The admiral's demise was followed by the announcement that death was due to inflammation of the stomach. Deputy Sheriff Condon, in speaking of the matter, said today:

"I have nothing to say at this particular time except to state that an investigation is being made."

Admiral Eaton was taken ill on Friday and died the next day. He was 85 years old and lived on a farm here since his retirement from active service seven years ago. He was a native of Alabama and had served in the navy nearly 40 years. He received a medal of honor for his part in the battle of Santiago. At the time of his retirement he was commandant of the Charlestown navy yard.

The body of Admiral Eaton was taken to Lowell for burial today. Mrs. Eaton and her daughter by a former marriage, Dorothy Ainsworth, accompanied the body.

The widow and her mother, Mrs. George Harrison, both expressed the opinion today that the admiral had died a natural death. Mrs. Harrison explained that he had been subject to frequent attacks of indigestion. On Wednesday before his death, she said, he ate rather heavily of roast pork and later suffered some distress. Friday, a physician who had been called to attend her found the admiral indisposed and prescribed for him. That night Admiral Eaton experienced a chill but was relieved and before he fell asleep chatted for several minutes with his wife. Early this following morning Mrs. Eaton awoke to find her husband dead beside her in bed.

Mrs. Eaton said she did not believe the admiral had been poisoned and re

Pipe Line Cases

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The commerce court today granted preliminary injunctions restraining the orders of the inter-state commerce commission in what are known as the pipe line cases. The constitutionality of the inter-state commerce law as applied to all pipe lines is in question.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Speaker Champ Clark was today admitted to practice before the supreme court. He was introduced by former Judge Shepard Barclay of St. Louis, who vouches for his good standing and qualifications as a lawyer. The speaker does not expect to practice before the court in the immediate future at least.

MEETING OF MUNICIPAL BOARD

CHARLES L. KNAPP,
Sinking Fund CommissionerHON. JOHN E. DRURY,
Elected to Health Board

Hon. John E. Drury Elected to Board of Health to Succeed Mr. Osgood

John E. Drury, the well known plumber, will succeed John A. Osgood as a member of the board of health. Mr. Drury was elected at a meeting of the municipal council held yesterday afternoon. He was elected on the third ballot receiving the votes of Mayor O'Donnell and Commissioners Barrett and Donnelly. Other business of the meeting included Victor H. J. Belle Isle's petition for appointment as a constable.

The following communication relative to the appointment of a forest warden was read by the mayor:

Boston, Mass., Feb. 28, 1913.
Dear Sir: The law requires that you shall during the months of March and April appoint a forest warden, whose appointment being subject to the approval of the state forester. It is very necessary that this appointment be made as soon as first meeting in March in order that we may have our organization complete before the fire season commences. If the forest warden has been efficient we earnestly request that he be retained.

For Street Improvements

The following petitions were referred to the commissioner of streets and highways:

Petition of George S. Gilman et al. that Middlesex street be macadamized from junction of Branch and Middlesex streets to junction of Pawtucket streets.

Petition of John C. Gatsopoulos et al. that Middlesex street, from Baldwin street to Wood street be paved with old granite blocks.

Petition of E. Greenberg; that a sidewalk of edgestones and cinders be laid on the north side of Thayer street between Duxbury and Belgrave streets.

Petition of Thomas Griffin, et al. for sewers in Donistreet from Merrill avenue about 200 feet.

Petition of George W. Ingalls, et al.

that the Lawrence street sewer be extended from its present terminus at or near Rockingham street to Baylston, Hampstead and Dayton streets.

Petition of Thomas McKee et al. that a catch basin be placed on Lakeview avenue at Fred street.

Orders to Harbor

An order to borrow $5000 for necessary and additional equipment for the health department was read by the mayor and a hearing was set for March 25, at 2 o'clock.

The usual order instructing the board of assessors to raise the sum of $1,455,500 by assessment on polls and estate, to defray the current expenses of the city for the fiscal year beginning Jan. 1, 1913 and ending December 31, 1913 was voted.

Auditing of City's Books

An order submitted by Ald. Brown recommending that Chief Settemy of the bureau of statistics and labor be awarded the contract to audit the city's books was read by the mayor and Mr. Brown read a communication from Mr. Settemy which appeared in yesterday's editions. After reading the letter Mr. Brown moved the adoption of the order and his motion was seconded by Ald. Barrett. It was voted to have a hearing on the matter on March 26.

Alderman Brown Objects

Alderman Brown, speaking to a question of privilege said that on Friday one of the commissioners went to the auditor with a bill for the payment of two fleet automobiles and the auditor issued a draft for the amount, over $11,000. He did not think the machines were legally purchased, claiming that the same objection made in the case of the Knox auto applied to the other two. He thought he should have been notified. The Bill was approved by the other four commissioners.

Board of B. P. Butler

Dr. Walter A. Sherman was confirmed as inspector of animals.

Mr. Hayes moved that he be given permission to have the purchasing agent call for bids for 56 six-inch fire hydrants, each with three 2 1/2-in. outlets and with 7-foot stand pipes, the cost to be about $2500. It was voted to grant the permission asked.

The mayor read a letter from Mrs. Anna Ritsos, wife of the noted sculptor, the late Sakis Ritsos, concerning a bust of the late B. P. Butler, which she hoped the council would purchase.

Action was had over for a week.

The Belle Isle Hearing

The hearing on petition of V. H. J. Belle Isle for appointment as constable, went on once more, after postponement for several weeks.

James Stuart Murphy, counsel for Mr. Belle Isle, read a long list of names of people who subscribed that Mr. Belle Isle is a sober and industrious man and entirely satisfactory as constable. Many of those who signed the petition were French-Americans.

"Charges have been brought out here that Mr. Belle Isle is not a citizen," said Mr. Murphy. "I think everything shows he is an citizen of Lowell. Also the charge has been made that he was in bankruptcy, and this is admitted, but it was his misfortune, not his fault."

"Also, there is one other matter I wish to bring up. The mayor who is sitting as presiding officer on this case was appointed administrator of the estate, annexed, of the late Hannah J. Belle Isle. Also, it appears in the schedule of debts that the undertaking of Mr. F. O'Donnell & Sons is one of the creditors."

"I deem it an extraordinary thing that a man who has served with credit and ability should have his petition for appointment as constable held up. The washing of dirty linen before this council is a regrettable thing. It is a family affair, matters of personal spite, malice and sullen, and the game is hardly worth the candle. I also say that Mr. Belle Isle has taken unto himself another wife. At the present time she is in a serious condition as a result of an automobile accident."

"My own opinion is, that should the council appoint him or refuse to appoint him a constable, it would make little difference. With His Honor sitting on this case, I believe that whatever this council does will not be legal."

The mayor's connection with the estate of Mrs. Hannah J. Belle Isle forbids him from taking part in this case. If he does, I believe that there may be almost endless litigation.

In consideration of the expense attendant upon the continuation of this case, and in consideration of the condition of his sick wife, Mr. Belle Isle desires to withdraw his petition. He is not showing the white feather, because he is not constituted that way, and neither am I. But because of home conditions, because of the condition of his wife, because he does not want any more dirty linen washed here, he asks that his petition for appointment as constable be withdrawn.

"And in view of the memory, in which Mr. Belle Isle holds his former wife, I ask that the papers be returned."

Albert S. Howard, appearing for Mr. Gately, said it was a matter of great gratification to him and to his client that Mr. Murphy had asked to withdraw the petition.

He further spoke mainly to the effect that Mr. Gately's action was not due to malice or spleen.

Mr. Drury's Election

Mayor O'Donnell moved, and it was voted that a ballot be taken for the position of member of the board of health.

There was no choice on the first ballot, Messrs. Barrett and Brown voting for John A. Osgood, Mr. Cummings for John J. Sullivan, and Messrs. Donnelly and O'Donnell for John E. Drury.

The mayor again moved that a ballot be taken for the election of a member of the board of health. Still no choice. Mr. Barrett alone voted for Mr. Osgood. Mr. Brown switched to Mr. Sullivan. Mr. Cummings still stuck to Mr. Sullivan. Messrs. Donnelly and O'Donnell were still with Drury.

On the third and last ballot, Mr. Barrett voted for Mr. Drury. Mr. Brown voted for William P. F. Kenedick. Mr. Cummings for Mr. Sullivan, and Messrs. Donnelly and O'Donnell for Drury, and the latter was declared elected.

Mr. Kenedick Re-elected

Mr. Barrett moved that a ballot be taken for a sinking fund commissioner, the term of Charles L. Knapp having expired on January 1st. It was so voted. Messrs. Barrett, Cummings and O'Donnell voted for Mr. Knapp, who was declared re-elected. Messrs. Brown and Donnelly voted for Frank P. McGivern.

Extension of Streets

Mr. Cummings asked that the commissioner of streets and highways submit to the council at its next meeting the estimates of the cost of extending Pleasant street and Clarendon street, as per petition respectively of F. E. Durfee and E. Garfield Baker. It was so voted.

Mr. Cummings further asked that the commissioner of streets and highways prepare an estimate of the cost of extending Porter street, from High street to Pleasant street, and submit it at the next meeting.

Mr. Barrett wanted the commissioner of streets and highways to bring before the council at its next meeting the estimates of the cost of extending Union street through to Hancock avenue. He said that this would make Union street a one-way street, a much to be desired improvement.

Since the first of the year there have been 14 accidents on the street and one recently had been of so serious a nature that the city is likely to be sued. The public safety demands that this be made a one-way street and the only way to do it is to extend Aiken street through to Hancock avenue.

Adjourned at 4:20 o'clock to next Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Arrested Shortly After Shooting—
Tragedy at Memphis, Tenn.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 12.—Finding her husband alone with a woman who gave her name as Mrs. J. A. Howell, in an uptown flat last night, Mrs. August Schieber opened fire upon them with a pistol. Schieber, who is president of a lumber company here, was so badly wounded that he died soon after. The woman was wounded in the right arm. Mrs. Schieber was arrested at her home shortly after the shooting. According to the arresting officer she did not appear perturbed, and after inquiring whether "she was dead" turned over to him a pistol with five empty shells in it. When told that her husband was mortally wounded she is said to have replied: "Then he was for nothing after all."

Schieber, who was reputed to be wealthy, came to Memphis several years ago from Mount Vernon, Ind. He was about 35 years of age. Mrs. Schieber gave her age as 35. Mrs. Howell is said to have formerly lived in Vincennes, Ind.

UNITED IRISH LEAGUE

Chicago Orator at Sunday Evening Meeting

The United Irish League committee in charge of the monster free meeting to be held in Associate hall, Sunday evening, March 16th, are striving to make the demonstration in aid of Home Rule for Ireland unique in the annals of such celebrations in Lowell. Since Hon. P. J. O'Keefe of Chicago, volunteered his services four weeks ago, the committee has left no stone unturned to arouse public enthusiasm and they are confident that their efforts will be crowned with success. It is planned to make the great Sunday-night meeting real St. Patrick's Day celebration. Hon. P. J. O'Keefe is a man of national prominence and has been identified with some of the greatest public movements of this country. He counts among his personal friends some of America's distinguished citizens as well as the leaders of the Irish parliamentary party. He is a man of rare personal magnetism and because of his personal experiences in the struggle for Irish freedom, his story has an interest that only such personal experience can give. He proved his love for Ireland in darker days when he languished in prison as a political prisoner and he is just as ardent in the cause today notwithstanding the pressure of large business interests both here and in Europe.

Humphrey O'Sullivan who is to preside at the Sunday night meeting will meet Mr. O'Keefe at the Hotel Touraine on Saturday night, and take him as his guest to the banquet of the Charitable Irish Society in the Copley Plaza hotel that evening. Besides Mr. O'Keefe, plans are under way to secure another speaker whose name is known throughout New England and the league hopes to be able to make definite announcement concerning him in the press, Friday, March 14th.

Mr. James J. Flynn, the famous Boston baritone, will sing several Irish ballads and will lead the singing of "God Save Ireland," at the close of the meeting. Miss Florence Hague and other local singers will also contribute and the event promises to be worthy of St. Patrick, Ireland, and Home Rule. Decorator Young has been employed to put up suitable decorations in the hall and over the platform in large letters will be the inscription, "Ireland a Nation."

Bibliograph of U. S. Laws

WASHINGTON, March 12.—With the declaration that the United States had taken such a commanding position in the family of nations the most comprehensive knowledge of both international and continental laws was imperative. Edwin Bouchard, law librarian of the congress today issued a bibliograph of those laws. It is a comprehensive digest of 32 pages.

To enable the student of world conditions to systematize and guide his investigation and to identify and indicate the legal literature of foreign lands, Mr. Bouchard declared was the object of his work.

tends to rush troops to subdue the anti-Huerta uprising in Sonora, the western border state, it must be done either by landing Federal forces at some California port or by moving them from Chihuahua. But with the recent declaration of Inez Salazar that he will not accept Huerta, the conditions about Chihuahua make it appear that General Rabago's force of from 2000 to 3000 federals cannot move far from the vicinity of Chihuahua City. While Chihuahua, the state which promoted Madero's revolution, remains comparatively quiet, the old Maderista is strong in the state and in many ways has disregarded the Huerta regime.

Travelers arriving here today from the west coast reported there was no federal force in Sonora or Shalón fit to move against Hermosillo. The Sonora state capital is held by more than 2000 constitutionalists backing up the stand of the state officials.

To Honor Frank Chance
CHICAGO, March 12.—Friends of Frank Chance here already have begun plans for honoring the former manager of the local National league team, when the New Yorks open their first western engagement with the Chicago Americans. The day is to be known as "Frank Chance" day and patrons who favored the games at the National League park while he was there will have the honor of placing the parade that is to be formed. Two thousand seats have been reserved on that day on the first base side of the grandstand in the hope that the new manager of the New Yorks will play the first bag. An auto parade, headed by a brass band, will move through South Side boulevard to the park.

DECREASE IN IMMIGRATION

Those zealous Americans who sought to restrict immigration by a bill including a literacy test may well rejoice. Even without such a legal barrier the number of immigrants has fallen off considerably during the past few years and it looks as though the annual inflow will decrease still more in the near future. This is due to a variety of causes, differing according to the source from which the greatest number of immigrants formerly came. Of late years the emigration from northern Europe has steadily decreased. England, Ireland, Sweden and Norway, which formerly sent large numbers, have ceased to be over-populated and have started a successful agitation to keep their people at home. Germany is directing the stream of her surplus population to her own African colonies, or to South America with which she is working hard to establish close commercial relations. The Italians are realizing that owing to the disparity in the cost of living American wages do not compensate for the hardships of change. Their recent war has also opened up territory in Africa, to which the government will direct Italian immigrants for the purpose of colonization. The unending cessation of Turkey's rule in Europe will be followed by a new colonial spirit in Greece and all the Balkan states, with a resultant decrease in the number of our immigrants from that region. Russia is the only country from which the supply has been unwilling. The cause for this is not so much the prospect of greater material prosperity afforded by America, but a desire to escape the persecutions of a despotic government at home. This despotism will change in time. Under civilizing influences a more enlightened humanity will become the policy of Russia, and when that happens our Slave Immigration will also cease, or at least be reduced to a fraction of the present supply.

RECEPTION OF DIPLOMATS

Though President Wilson in all his public acts since his election has shown a desire for democracy and simplicity, his recent reception of the foreign diplomats shows that when the occasion requires dignity and impressiveness, he will live up to the best precedents set by his predecessors. Although America is the least formal of nations our diplomatic dealings with foreign countries call for more ceremony than we usually observe in purely national matters. One of the most formal of these ceremonies is the official reception to the representatives of the foreign powers, which is also one of the first important ceremonies that confronts a president. On Monday, President Wilson, accompanied by William J. Bryan as secretary of state, received 146 foreign representatives in the east room of the White House. After a personal greeting to each he made a brief address, expressing his hope for the continuance of the friendly relations that at present exist between America and all nations.

All Americans ought to realize with a sense of pride and security that at present scarcely another country of the world could, in the person of its ruler, sincerely assure the representatives of all governments of its desire for peace. Nature has done much for us. Because of our geographical position we are far removed from the scenes of the political ferment and international rivalry that at present agitate every country of Europe and Asia. Though the nations are crafty and diplomatic in their dealings, they are ever watchful of each other, and so hedged round by treaties and secret understandings that they never really feel the sense of security that we enjoy. England, France, Germany, Russia, Italy, Austria, Japan are all restless. Though they may meet on diplomatic footing and exchange courtesies the world knows that in their assurances of friendship there are mental reservations. In America alone a distinguished citizen who but yesterday stepped from the ranks of the people can in all sincerity assure the nations of the world of our heartfelt desire for peace and good will with all peoples. May this peace long continue!

CRITICISM OF DR. FRIEDMANN

Surgeon-general Blue of the public health service of the United States government has established a safe and sensible plan in dealing with Dr. Friedmann's reputed cure for tuberculosis. He announces the determination of the government to approach the matter with an open unbiased mind, make the tests necessary to determine if the cure is efficacious and to make nothing public until the effects of this thorough trial have been noted. The public will then be informed as to the result of the experiments.

If this plan had been followed from the first, it is evident that much unpleasant public discussion could have been avoided. Even before the doctor arrived a great many were ready to pronounce their disbelief in his discovery. On all sides he was met by scepticism and open hostility. This scepticism may be later justified but if the efficacy of the treatment is established it will be humiliating for the doctors

Seen and Heard

The other day The Sun took a little back in local history with an 1849 discovery as its guide and while the ground was covered pretty thoroughly some items of interest went untouched. I think nothing was said of the school and, if I remember, you may read: "A high school, nine grades, and a grammar school were incorporated for the year 1849." In charge of the high school were two principals—Joseph Demarest for the male department, and a lady for the "female." Assisting these pedagogues were an assistant teacher and, respectively, a teacher of mathematics, of the languages of French, of vocal music, and of penmanship and bookkeeping. Besides these were three assistants, a music teacher and a writing master in each school. Each primary school had one teacher.

And now a word about the mills. Of the textile mills now located in Lowell, the Merrimack, Hamilton, Appleton, Middlesex, Sohio, Tremont, Lowell Bleachery, and others, both in Lowell and elsewhere, were incorporated in 1849. The oldest and largest of these was the Merrimack, which was incorporated in 1822, and which contained 67,652 spindles, with 12,296 looms and housed 2,242 employees. Its agent was Henry Washburn and its capital was two million dollars.

Friendly citizens were protected and the rights of the government upheld by the Lowell Guards, organized in 1851. Their Company A and B were styled respectively the Lowell Mechanics Phalanx and the Lowell City Guards. The Phalanx was under the command of Capt. J. L. Huntress and the Guards under that of Capt. Gen. P. Sowell.

Friendships were necessary to hold the empire together; records of those anti-slavery days show that the Lowell City Institution for Savings, Appleton, Lowell Institution for Savings and Railroad—the last named being the largest state capital, $699,000.

A social and benevolent institution of great worth, the Middlesex Mosaic Association, brought together in happy contact many of the city's inhabitants.

The judge from the descriptions of our countrymen, like a people's club, for it contained a reading room, library, gymnasium and other departments, while it contributed to the relief of the poor, people who, though not poor, lacked social relaxation.

WEAVING THE WEB

"This man I will weave my web," she said.

As she stood by her loom in the rose light,

And her young eyes hopefully gazed afar,

Followed after the swallow's flight,

As soon as the day's first tasks are done,

While yet I am fresh and strong,"

She said,

"I will hasten to weave the beautiful web

Whose pattern is known to none but me.

"I will weave it fine, I will weave it fair;

And oh! how the colors will glow,

She said.

"So fearless and strong will I weave my web,

That perhaps it will live after I am dead;

But the morning hours sped on apace,

The air grew sweet with the breath of June;

And young Love bid by the waiting loom,

Tangling the threads as he hummed,

"Ah! life is so rich and full," she cried,

"And worn in short, though the days are long!"

This noon I will weave my beautiful web,

I will weave it carefully fine, and

It is growing too dark to weave!" she said.

As fewer and fewer sank the sun,

She dropped the shuttle; the loom stood still;

The weaver slept in the twilight gray.

Pear heart! Will she weave her beautiful web

"Americanized" Brockton Enterprise. Now it comes forward to say that British subjects are being driven from office by the "Americanized" British press. Was it the Americanized British press that burned David Lloyd-George's place the other day? What has been making Astor see things in his dreams at night, or that has been hurling shoes at him in the course of the bench? We should say it was. These events like those that have dulled the British big men's appetite for office, if it is dulled. Meaning most of them are standing pat, and are likely to continue to do so in some greater influence, even the "Americanized" press gets after them. Anybody wants to see a really yellow journal, full of sensation and sound and little to justify it, and playing up every little scrap of news to make it assume astonishing proportions and to rob it of all respect, let him buy some of the most popular evening papers, which in the case of a few species are in a class by themselves. If these were Americanized it would be a blessing for their readers and the country generally.

Mental Exercise

Newport News: It is said that people as a rule do not exercise their minds as much as their bodies; and the trouble is that they are not really interested in any one thing enough to train the mind on that subject. They have interests, but these are spread so thin and divided among so many objects that they do not go deep enough to bring the mind down to hard thinking. This is one of the reasons why, when called upon to do anything in the nature of sustained mental effort, many are so overwhelmed by doubts and fears that they fail to carry out the thing as they wished, not having the ability to think hard enough to bring the mind down to a steady, determined action.

Spring His Way

New Bedford Mercury: President Wilson has written a second letter to the board of governors of the Chevy Chase Club, whose invitation to become an honorary member he declined recently. It develops that the president prefers paying his own way to the advantages of honorary membership, which his position would bring. A member of the guard says:

"When Mr. Wilson read of how the press said we felt about the matter, he wrote us that his attitude had been misinterpreted. His declination of honorary membership is no mere moment as a snub. In effect, he said, that it would be his policy throughout his administration to accept as few favors as possible.

"Because he has been raised to the office of president he does not mean to stop paying his way. He is not looking for the thousand perquisites which might readily be his. When looked at from his point of view his attitude is laudable.

Free Seeds

Lawrence American: Congress, at the last minute, restored the free seed item to the appropriation bill. Well, the seeds make good chicken feed, anyway.

Brown Tail Moth

Woonsocket Call: The brown tail moth has increased his dominion in Rhode Island to such an extent lately that the state entomologist is alarmed and sends an appeal for help. This insect belongs to the same catalogue of pests. He is secretive, almost invisible, persistent, voracious. Where he plants his stand, the ground is soon doomed. He is not developing plowman, but a destroyer. Desolation is in his wake. It is time, indeed, that all the owners waked up, took off their eyes, surveyed their premises and got to work under the advice of the state guardian.

It is expected that the schedule completed by the New England league will complete its business today. A meeting will be called later in the week of representatives of all the clubs which compose the circuit for the purpose of ratifying the new schedule.

From present indications the annual B. A. A. meeting on April 19th, will be the biggest in point of entrants that the Boston club has pulled off. Entries are already pouring in from all over the east, and the latest addition are two entries from Bermuda.

The St. Louis Americans were defeated yesterday in their game with the Waco, Texas, team of the Texas league by the score of 6 to 4. Billy "K" McManus proved the star of the game for the Waco team with a brace of triples, each one with two men on bases. Weidman, the tallest man playing big league ball today, was one of the pitchers used by St. Louis.

In their first scrub game of the season the Red Sox champions showed up well yesterday, both in fielding as well as at the bat. Carlstrom, formerly on the circuit, was the only player who made errors in the two games that were played. Speaker was right there with two hits for a total of four bases and a brace of runs. The regulars were the winners by the score of 6 to 7.

Negotiations are on between Manager Gray and the Bridgeport management for an exchange of pitchers. The players named in the proposed shift are Blum of Lowell and Dorrance of the Conn. club. Manager Gray has been impressed by what he has seen and heard of Dorrance and considers that he would make a telling addition to the pitching staff of the local club.

Although Dartmouth was beaten out for the inter-collegiate basketball championship she has two men, Margeson, center, and Shaw, left forward, on the all-college five that has just been chosen. Cornell, Penn. and Columbia each have one player on the team. Although the Navy team has gone through the season with a clean slate, the experts have not given fit to give any of her quintet recognition.

The Brickett family, bearing accidents, will prove one of the greatest athletic families that the country has ever produced. Known all about Charlie, the Harvard football sensation of last fall, but critics say that his two brothers, George and Joe, who will enter Exeter next fall, are built on better lines than their older brother. George is a senior at Everett high, while Joe is a second year boy at the same school.

The high school battery candidates responded to the call of Captain Gill yesterday afternoon and a busy two hours were spent at the high school annex. Manager Shanley was in charge of the practice as the coach was not selected yet. The pitchers were not allowed to loosen up to any great extent although some of them allowed that they had been practicing outdoors for some time past. The material which appeared yesterday looked as though a fast aggregation might be developed this year.

BASEBALL NOTES

Henry Meyers and Johnny Munice, both of Charlestown, who will appear in the main bout at this week's meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club are training hard for the match and both promise to be in the best possible condition when the time comes for them to jump into the ring. The winner will be hailed as the champion of Charlestown, and with this as an incentive, along with the promise of the winner being matched up with some of the title claimants in other sections of the country, both will try hard to come out on the long end. Munice recently met Phil McGovern at the local club and boxed a draw with the lively Brooklyn scrapper. He also met Al Delmont here and in that contest, too, a draw decision was given. Among the most notable performers that Meyers has met are Knockout Brown and Pal Moore, and the Charlestown boxer forced those clever men to step their hardest to stay with him. In the semi final Johnny Boyle, who on Monday night won his bout at Salem, will meet Roddy McDonald, of Nova Scotia, who is a sparring partner for Mirkie McIntyre, the well known welterweight. Boyle is in good shape, and should show to good advantage. He is meeting with great success since reentering the ring this season and his friends feel confident that he will be returned the winner in Friday night's bout. In the first preliminary, Young Cooney and Young Sullivan will meet and in the other finale Boyle will tackle Young Connolly.

NEW YORK, March 12.—Willie Ritchie, holder of the lightweight championship, declares Packey McFarland can have a whack at his diadem if he will make 133 pounds ringside. When Willie told the experts this he is getting older, stronger and richer. Those three attributes always prohibit a man from becoming thin, especially the last. McFarland cannot make 133 pounds ringside and be strong. In the future he will have to meet welterweights.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES UNDERWOOD

Democratic Majority Leader of the House Had Conference With President Wilson

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Representative Oscar Underwood, the democratic majority leader of the house had his first conference at the White House today with President Wilson. Though he had no previous engagement, Mr. Underwood got to the executive office ahead of the fixed list of callers and was immediately received by the president.

The engagement list for today included Senator Overman of North Carolina, former Rep. Randall of Texas, former Speaker Cannon, Vance McCormick, Senator Newlands of Nevada, Reps. Hay of Virginia, Pepper and Kirkpatrick of Iowa, Wayne MacVeagh, Henry St. George Tucker, Richmond, Va., and Rep. Sims of Tennessee. A special cabinet meeting was called for 11 o'clock. It was said that so much of the time yesterday had been devoted to a discussion of Latin-American policy that the cabinet reserved for today the settling of many assistant secretarieships.

In the east room of the White House later in the day the president planned to receive William C. Eustis, R. T. Brooks and M. J. Weller of the local inaugural committee who presented to him a gold inaugural medal. Secretary-General Bullitt and Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the house money trust investigating committee, also were to pay their respects in the east room. Later in the afternoon the president and Mrs. Wilson planned to receive the diplomatic corps and their families.

The president today received a formal cablegram from the mayor of Carlisle, England, expressing in behalf of the town council the hearty congratulations on his assumption of the presidency. It was in Carlisle that President Wilson's grandfather was born. The president sent a cablegram of appreciation.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK!
Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Nature warns you when the track of health is not clear. Kidney and bladder troubles compel you to pass water often during the day and get up many times during the night.

Unhealthy kidneys cause jumbago, rheumatism, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints or muscles, at times have headache or indigestion, as time passes you may have a sallow complexion, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, sometimes feel as though you had heart trouble, may have plenty of ambition but no strength, get weak and lose flesh.

If such conditions are permitted to continue serious results are sure to follow; Bright's disease, the very worst form of kidney trouble, may steal upon you.

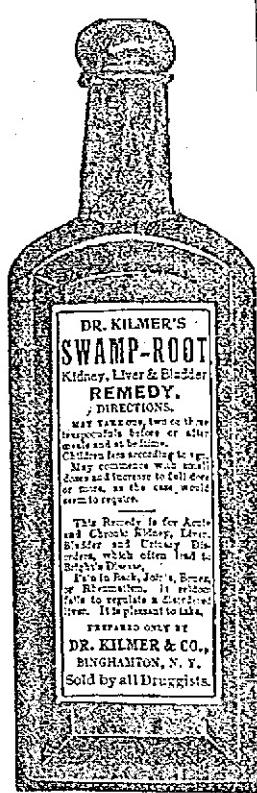

Prevalency of Kidney Disease

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physician, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease constantly undermines the system.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run down condition, begin taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because as soon as your kidneys improve, they will help the other organs to health.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at any drug store. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., which you will find on every bottle.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—With the democratic committee lists of the senate nearly complete members of that body today expect that the special session would terminate before the end of the week. The republican caucus was called for one o'clock to consider the republican assignments and the senator to be purposed in asking the democrats for committee places and patronage.

During the long period of control of the senate by republicans recognition was given to the democratic minority by the appointment of many democrats to minor positions connected with the senate. The republicans expect now that the democratic managers will give them the same consideration in the reorganization about to take place.

EDITORIAL NOTICE—To prove the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands of letters received from men and women who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy they needed. Disturbance Among the Boston Strikers

BOSTON, March 12.—In a scuffle between strike pickets and non-union workers in the garment manufacturing district today one picket was so badly injured that it was necessary to take him to a hospital. Another disturbance resulted in two pickets, girls, being arrested for assault.

TUBERCULOSIS VACCINE

Government Tests Are Proceeding Slowly

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Government tests of Dr. Friedmann's tuberculosis vaccine in the public health service hygienic laboratory here are proceeding under difficulties because the Berlin physician has not imparted to the official investigators the methods of making his vaccine from the culture nor has he divulged the dose, in spite of the fact that public health officials repeatedly have asked him to do so.

Dr. Gen. Blue announced today that his official mail had been increased four-fold with letters from all parts of the country from tuberculosis sufferers begging for an opportunity to offer themselves as subjects for tests. He reiterated today that under no circumstances would the public health service administer the vaccine to human beings at this time, if at all.

PARENTS AND THEIR CHILDREN POLICEMEN MADE SILLY REMARKS

Their Reciprocal Duties Told by Rev. Fr. Stanton, O. P., at the Immaculate Conception

Suffragettes Say Officers Were Rough, Coarse Men—Other Testimony at Hearing

Again last night the Immaculate Conception church was crowded with parents and their children or anything else that may properly interest them. If he treats them right they will tell him all their affairs; but if he gives them a cuff and a slap or meets them with cross words they will naturally avoid him, not through any fault of theirs, but because they are afraid to do anything else.

Some fathers again, use the rod on their children in a manner that does more harm instead of good. "Spare the rod and spoil the child" is an old saying, but it must be applied with great discretion. "I will admit," said the reverend preacher, "that there are cases in which corporal punishment is an absolute necessity; but even then it must be used with care and good judgment. Let us suppose a father has control of his children under the age of 15 years, he is not likely to be able to influence them very much after that age, when they need a father's guidance as the mysteries of life dawn upon their minds.

Rev. Fr. Stanton next dealt with the care of young girls by their parents, condemning most emphatically the practice of allowing their young daughters to go to cheap dances or to go dancing with young men who are not known to be all right. The father and the "big brother" should know who the fellow is who calls around after the young daughter and sister. They should investigate her beau and his habits and associations are not all right, then they should start him down the road when he calls.

Rev. Fr. Stanton told his audience that if they knew how young men often supposed to be decent try to disgrace your girls they would blush for shame. The girls are not bad, but when an innocent girl is surrounded by deceivers how long is she going to hold out? Let us suppose the father has a daughter who resists the corrupting influences that surround them from day to day and year to year. Parents must take care that their daughters are guarded against all such dangers.

In the latter part of his sermon Rev. Fr. Stanton scored the young men who, he said, had been seen at "counter parties" to their sisters and sisters, while putting on an air of gaudiness outside. They will take almost any kind of a girl out for a day and spend five or ten dollars on her while leaving their sisters or perhaps their poor mothers without the necessaries of life. What is it they can never spare enough to take their sisters or mothers out?

It is told of these mean things, sometimes in their stories to their mothers, how seldom they speak a pleasant word to mother or father in spite of the fact that both parents may have made the most heroic sacrifices to support and educate the young man that now ill-treats them, or in some cases feels ashamed of them. The preacher said these young men are violating God's commandments when they are doing these things. He then described how a son could bring joy to the hearts of his parents by a pleasant word or a kind act and by assisting them in all their necessities. There is nothing in this world, he said, that makes a parent so happy as the love and kindness of a dutiful son.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—When the special policemen as "rough, coarse men whose attitude was factious and who made flippancy silly remarks" failed to afford proper protection to the suffragist parade on March 3 prepared to resume hearings today it had before it a small army of police officers and patrolmen. It was decided to cross-examine them after District Commissioner John A. Johnson had concluded his testimony, begun yesterday, in which he applauded the efforts of the police and the preparations made by Major Sylvester, superintendent of police.

"We had no difficulty then," said Mrs. Haubrouck. "The police were willing to do what we asked."

Mrs. Forrest, east three National Guardsmen jumped on a float which she accompanied and tore down some of the decorations.

Dion Miller, a Washington lawyer, testified that of 150 policemen he saw along the line of march only two or three were taking active steps to keep the crowd back.

Mrs. Ella Waugh of Cambridge, Mass., said that the policemen that she saw were doing nothing to keep back the crowd and seemed interested in the parade.

ROME, March 12.—A fist fight between Admiral Padeval Cattoille, the minister of marine, and Admiral Gozzo, recently retired from the navy, caused a sensation today. Admiral Gozzo met the minister of marine on the street and boxed his ears and Admiral Cattoille energetically retaliated. The two combatants were separated by bystanders and arrested three strikers. Following the arrests 500 strikers held an indignation meeting. They claim the shooting was done by strike-breakers. The striking stone makers demand a complete union system in Erie. It is said that nearly 1000 men are out, the strike affecting about a dozen manufacturers.

MOLLY VARNUM CHAPTER BANQUET

Mrs. C. D. Palmer Made a Very Interesting
Address

The members of Molly Varnum chapter, D. A. R., entertained the state officers yesterday afternoon at the Spalding house, the affair taking the form of a reception and banquet. The affair was largely attended and a splendid afternoon was spent. A sumptuous repast was served and this was followed by interesting speeches.

At the close of the banquet Mrs. M. Ida Howe, rapped to order and she introduced as toastmistress Mrs. Henry M. Thompson, who spoke of the rapid growth of the D. A. R. society, and the efficient services rendered by the local members of this progressive society. She introduced as the first speaker, Mrs. Charles H. Bond, who responded to the toast, "Massachusetts and Continental Hall." Mrs. Bond, who is vice president general of the national D. A. R. and who resides in Boston, spoke in part as follows:

"Massachusetts may in truth be called the mother state of the Union; but Massachusetts cannot claim the title of mother to the D. A. R. organization, for that was founded in Washington. The first chapter, I am told, was formed in the city of Chicago; Still, Massachusetts now mothers at least one-twelfth of the total membership, and many daughters from other states trace their revolutionary ancestry back to her. So, if not exactly the mother, she might perhaps be called the grandmother of the D. A. R. organization."

She described the Vermont marble memorial hall which is the permanent home of the organization in Washington and said: "We have recently secured a room to be known as the Massachusetts room. A thousand dollars has been contributed to the general fund in order to have this room thus named. So it seems to me that it behoves the Massachusetts D. A. R. to see that it is properly furnished. When this is done, Massachusetts should bend her energies toward helping to wipe out the remaining debt on our nation at home. Nearly $700,000 has already been expended on the building and furnishings, and the debt has recently been reduced to about $150,000."

A letter of regret from State Regent Mrs. J. G. Dunning, for not being present was read by Mrs. Thompson.

The next speaker was Mrs. Charles D. Palmer of Lowell, who responded to the toast, "The Promised Land." She spoke in part as follows: "When our assistant historian general—energetic, efficient, enterprising, always esteemed ex-regent—when this persuasive person asked me to respond today, to the sentiment, 'The Promised Land,' I realized instantly there was an order for too large for me to fill. Then the thought flashed over me, what an opportunity! If I only felt it was fair to take advantage of it! My friend had forgotten, for a moment, that she is a militant 'anti' and I, the president of the Lowell Equal Suffrage League! How strange to use this occasion to make a special plea for votes for women! I am not going to do it. I feel that it would be almost a betrayal of friendship. Virtue is its own reward however. No argument could approach in poignancy the effect of a certain parade in Washington last week."

"The promised land! When the children of Israel reached the end of their wanderings, Moses sent people ahead to report upon the land which they were entering. Some found it a good land; others, with fear and trembling, said it was a land that ate up the inhabitants thereof. Our country—Mary Antin's promised land—is a good land or an evil, to the many men of many minds who inhabit it, according to the point of view. To the immigrant, it is a land of promise. To the toilers, the workers in the factories, it seems, perhaps, a land of blighted hopes, of industrial slavery. There are those who still claim it is a government by the people, of the people and for the people, and there are others who claim it is a land of plutocrats. Some say it is a land of high ideals; others that it is a land of gross materialism. It is the 'land of the free and the home of the brave'—or it is the home of a privileged class and high finance."

WHAT CAUSED EATON'S DEATH?

LOCAL DRUGGIST IS MISSING

Arthur J. Drouin Has Been Gone Over a Week—Store Closed and Friends Are Anxious

The many friends of Arthur J. Drouin, who conducted a drug store at the corner of Lillie avenue and West Sixth street, are in a quandary over his disappearance which occurred a week ago last Monday.

Mr. Drouin made his home with his sister, Mrs. Jeanne Lemire, 768 Lakeview avenue. He opened a drug store at Lillie avenue a couple of years ago, and business seemed to be very good. On Monday morning he left his home at his usual time saying he was going to the store, but he did not go there and has not been seen or heard from since. It was at first thought that the young man had gone to Springfield to visit relatives, but inquiries at the latter city disclosed the fact that he was not seen there.

The business was conducted all week by the clerk, and on Saturday when it was seen that the young man had not returned, his local relatives and friends became anxious and a telegram was sent to his father in St. Johnsbury, Vt., apprising him of the disappearance of his son. Mr. Drouin, Sr., came to Lowell in the evening and on Sunday morning closed the establishment.

The cause of the young man's disappearance is not known, for it is believed he was doing a good business, and his many friends are very anxious to see him return to Lowell. Some are of the opinion that he is visiting friends in other cities and will soon return.

ADMIRAL EATON BURIED HERE—CAUSE OF DEATH BEING INVESTIGATED

Remains Reached Lowell, Attended Only by Wife and Daughter—What Doctors Say

While state authorities were attempting today to determine whether death was due to natural causes, the body of Rear-Admiral Eaton, retired, was laid beside that of his first wife, Mary Ann Varnum, in Oaklawn cemetery at Dracut, where the two were married 42 years ago.

There was no service at the grave and only six persons witnessed the interment. These included Mrs. Eaton and her daughter, by an earlier marriage, Dorothy Ainsworth, who accompanied the body from the late home at Norwell.

The body was taken in charge by Undertaker Saunders on reaching the depot on the 12:07 p. m. train and only one back accompanied the bier to the cemetery. In this back were Mrs. Eaton, her daughter by a former husband, and two other friends.

Admiral Eaton died suddenly early Saturday. At the time death was ascribed to acute indigestion. The same day, however, the authorities began an inquiry, the basis for which has not been disclosed.

Dr. Joseph Frame, the attending physician, would say only that he found the admiral ill on Friday night. He would not state the nature of the ailment. From him the matter went to Medical Examiner Gilman Osgood.

Dr. Osgood, today said:

"I can only say that I performed an autopsy Saturday and made a report to the district attorney, as required in all such cases."

District Attorney Albert Barker was even more reticent. He said:

"I can say nothing whatever regarding this case at present."

The widow was distressed over reports that her husband might have died of poisoning.

"I cannot account for whatever mystery surrounds the death of Admiral Eaton," she said. "We believed that death was due to natural causes."

The admiral's life was saddened years ago by the death of his foster child, Joseph Giles Eaton, adopted as an infant. Mrs. Eaton feared that the child had been poisoned, but the admiral never accepted this theory and a chemical analysis of the stomach's contents proved that he was right.

Investigating Cause of Death

NORWELL, March 12.—It became known today that an investigation was begun a few hours after the sudden death last Saturday of Rear-Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton, U. S. N. (retired).

The basis for the inquiry was not made known. The admiral's demise was due to inflammation of the stomach. Deputy Sheriff Condon, in speaking of the matter, said today:

"I have nothing to say at this particular time, except to state that an investigation is being made."

Admiral Eaton was taken ill on Friday and died the next day. He was 63 years old and lived on a farm here since his retirement from active service seven years ago. He was an native of Alabama and had served in the navy nearly 40 years. He received a medal of honor for his part in the battle of Santiago. At the time of his retirement he was commanding of the Chelmsford navy yard.

The body of Admiral Eaton was taken to Lowell for burial today. Mrs. Eaton and her daughter by a former marriage, Dorothy Ainsworth, accompanied the body.

The widow and her mother, Mrs. George Harrison, both expressed the opinion today that the admiral had died a natural death. Mrs. Harrison explained that he had been subject to frequent attacks of indigestion. On Wednesday before his death, she said, he ate rather heavily of roast pork and later suffered some distress. Friday, a physician who had been called to attend her found the admiral indisposed and prescribed for him. That night Admiral Eaton experienced a chill but was relieved and before he fell asleep chatted for several minutes with his wife. Early the following morning Mrs. Eaton awoke to find her husband dead beside her in bed.

Mrs. Eaton said she did not believe the admiral had been poisoned and regretted that a report to that effect had been circulated.

The widow was the admiral's second wife and was formerly the wife of H. Ainsworth, once a clerk in the United States senate and later engaged in business in Boston. Her father was George Harrison, and the family home was at Alexandria, Va. Mrs. Eaton is 40 years of age.

Later Mrs. Eaton added to her earlier statement:

"I cannot account for whatever mystery surrounds the death of Admiral Eaton. It was certainly a singular affair. We believed that death was due to natural causes. The family realized, of course, that he had not been in good health for the past three years but we were not alarmed at his condition. Mr. Eaton was taken suddenly ill on Thursday and was attended by Dr. Joseph Frame of Rockland, who was treating another member of the family at the time. Although confined to his bed, Mr. Eaton did not realize that his condition was serious nor did the members of the family, he had no idea that the end was so near."

Large Attendance at Funeral Today

As Witness in Coal Land Fraud Cases

CHICAGO, March 12.—It is just possible that J. P. Morgan may be called as a witness in the Alaska coal land frauds cases which are on trial here before Judge Landis in the United States district court.

The possibility of the issuance of a subpoena for the financier arose in court today when John E. Ballantine of Seattle, former president of the Alaska Central railroad, was questioned by Alfred Flink of counsel for Albert C. Frost, one of the five defendants, regarding Morgan's relation to a bank which had been incorporated in the Alaska Central, and his alleged control of a railroad which competes with the Alaska Central.

Although Morgan is abroad, Judge Landis offered to have a subpoena issued for him at once if the defense believed his testimony would be material.

FREEMAN B. SHEDD PASSED AWAY

Noted Benefactor of His City Died in Miami, Florida

Freeman Ballard Shedd, citizen, soldier, philanthropist and friend passed away yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, at Miami, Florida. He passed on calmly and quietly to the peaceful shades of eternal rest and Lowell mourns the loss of a good and faithful son. None knew him but to love him for his sterling Christian manhood. None knew him but to praise him for his honor and strength of character and those who knew him well recognized in him the true type of Nature's nobleman.

"And the stately ships go on To their haven under the hill, But off! for a touch of a vanished hand, And the sound of a voice that is still."

Freeman Ballard Shedd had great physical strength, but like many another, the soldier shed on the cold, damp ground told upon him in later years and it has been said by doctor friends of his that he would have succumbed years ago but for his wonderful vitality. Mr. Shedd had died himself for the last eighteen or twenty years and having a pretty thorough knowledge of medicine he knew how to care for himself properly. He denied himself a great many things that many other men

A suggestive wink on the part of the supposed victim spoiled for the stern police authorities and eager press representatives what at the outset listened like the most sensational murder story that has ever caused Lowell to stand on end or Lowell mouths to gape and mutter the horror of their owners. In spite of the fact that the "murder" theory in this case was proven false, nevertheless the story is worth telling.

This morning a woman who conducts a lodging-house in French street, rushed into the police station, her every gesture denoting excitement and fear. In broken sentences she told her harrowing tale which was to the effect that one of her roomers went to his room last night in company with two other men and that was the last she heard or saw or him until she went to call him this morning. When he failed to respond to her repeated rappings and calls, she opened the door and went within to find her lodger lying on his face purple and wearing a strangely repulsive expression and his companions of the night before missing. She shook, poked, punched, pinched him and withal was unable to awaken the man. Consequently in her fright she rushed to the police station and told her story to the authorities there. Two officers went to the house and to the man's room, where they started to work over him in an endeavor to cause him to show signs that his spirit and body were still on friendly terms. Without warning his right eye closed in a very suggestive, very knowing, yet perhaps involuntary wink and the murder theory with visions of a "balloon head" in the evening papers, vanished like frost before the noonday sun. The supposed victim of the murderer's weapon had merely been struck in the mouth by a fiery liquid, the product of a distillery, and the steep producing fumes had spread to his brain.

SALISBURY, March 12.—A sensation was created at the annual town meeting here yesterday when license to sell intoxicating liquors in the town and at Salisbury beach, which comes under the jurisdiction of the town, was passed by a majority of 29 votes.

Last year the town voted no-license by a small majority and although an agitation for license was made this year, the vote was in doubt up to the last moment.

TELEPHONE CHANGES

Local Company to Adopt New System

"Because letters are spoken more distinctly than numbers and are more easily understood by operators, and to eliminate the word 'ring,' the Telephone company will inaugurate, with the opening of the new exchange Saturday evening, a new system of calling in Lowell," said Manager Leathers yesterday. "No subscriber will be inconvenienced and there will be no interruption to service. Divided ringing will be given; that is, a subscriber on a two party line will only hear his own bell ring, and on a four party line one bell other than his own."

The change will be the substitution of the letters W, M, R, J, Y and X for the figures that now follow the line number on all two and four party lines. There will be no change, however, on one party or six party lines. All line numbers will remain as at present and the number of rings for any subscriber will remain unchanged.

"Under the new system the use of 'ring one, ring two or ring three' in calling a subscriber will be abolished, the letters will be used instead and the word 'ring' will be left out."

"At present a subscriber whose number may be 123-2 is called in this way: 'One, two, three—ring two.' Under the new system the listing of this subscriber will be 123-R and the call will be made this way: 'One, two, three—"

"There has always been more or less confusion in the use of the ring numbers. In many instances the enumeration of subscribers is poor and the operators are not to blame for misunderstanding. This is particularly true in speaking the figures two and three, five and nine and eight and eight."

"Months ago the telephone companies associated in the great Bell system made a series of elaborate tests to find six letters sounding the most unlike. It was a more difficult task than one would imagine. Several operators made thousands of calls and the result was carefully tabulated. In other ways every effort was made to find just the right letters."

"Letter designations have been used very successfully in a great many cities and towns for a long time. In Greater Boston nearly 300,000 subscribers got into the new way of calling in a day and there was no trouble at all."

"Until late Saturday night calls will continue to be made as at present. Cards will be sent every subscriber affected giving the new listings and a local supplement will be out before Saturday."

The Great "Cut Over"

Without interrupting the service of approximately 6000 subscribers who use about 7000 telephones in Lowell, the New England Telephone and Telegraph company will remove late Saturday night from the present central office on Central street to the new exchange building erected by the company at the corner of Appleton and Elliot streets.

The change from one switchboard to another, known among telephone men as a "cut-over," will be made in a few seconds shortly before midnight, when few, if any, subscribers are using the lines. So carefully has the preliminary work been done that there will be no interruptions to the service and subscribers will not be inconvenienced.

A corrected telephone supplement will be mailed to every subscriber before the "cut-over." After midnight Saturday the present directory should not be used in calling local subscribers.

The new central office building is one of the best in New England. In addition to the numerous switchboard and other modern equipment necessary to the giving of service the building will contain offices of the commercial, plant, traffic and accounting departments, which had already been described at length.

The cost of the building is over $100,000 and for the interior equipment, including the switchboard, $125,000. In addition there is the expense of the land, removing the buildings, turning down, a lot of outside construction work, furniture and many incidentals. It is safe to say that the removal from one exchange to another will cost the company over $325,000.

The present exchange and offices have long been inadequate to handle the rapidly growing telephone business in Lowell and the new and modern building will be appreciated by both employees and the public. It will mean improved service for everybody using the lines.

One of the new features will be a school for the training of operators. Several rooms will be used and there will be actual work at a small switchboard that will not be connected with subscribers' lines. The course will require four weeks of training and the young women will be paid while learning.

The departments and equipment of the new building have already appeared in The Sun.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of a Storm of the Old Fashioned Kind—Storm Started Early in Morning

Those who can remember back a quarter of a century will easily remember the howling snow storm that started early in the morning of March 22, 1888 and continued throughout the day and night cutting off telephone, telegraph, electric light, horse car service and stopped business in this and other cities for some time.

The storm started early in the morning and as it continued through the day many thought it would turn to rain. The weight of the snow broke roofs from houses, tore off telephone wires and did all damage that was possible for a storm of its kind.

All theatres and church services were postponed and the traffic was stopped until late in the afternoon of March 23. People were forced to stay in their houses as the streets could not be cleared and the cars were unable to run.

MISS ELIA BURKE MILLYERY EXHIBIT

Miss Elia Burke announced through The Sun that her grand exhibit of millinery would take place Monday and Tuesday of this week and certainly it was a grand success in point of the numbers who attended. The exhibition was well worthy of close inspection.

The ultra fashionable ladies were in attendance, knowing that something out of the usual might be shown in the milliner's art, and they were not mistaken. You see you do not have to pay anything for style or qualification at Miss Burke's reception, you only pay for work and material style she creates for you. The material to select from is always the finest to be had and you probably will pay less for what you select than at any other first class millinery place in the city. We will not attempt to go into description of any of the beautiful creations but would suggest that you go in and inspect yourself. Miss Burke is positively in the front rank when it comes to producing the most beautiful creations in the milliner's art.

CHARLES L. KNAPP,
Street Fund CommissionerHON. JOHN E. DRURY,
Elected to Health Board

Hon. John E. Drury Elected to Board of Health to Succeed Mr. Osgood

John E. Drury, the well known plumber, will succeed John A. Osgood as a member of the board of health. Mr. Drury was elected at a meeting of the municipal council held yesterday afternoon. He was elected on the third ballot, receiving the votes of Mayor O'Donnell and Commissioners Barrett and Donnelly. Other business of the meeting included Victor H. J. Belle Isle's petition for appointment as a constable.

The following communication relative to the appointment of a forest warden was read by the mayor:

Boston, Mass., Feb. 28, 1913.—Dear Sir: The law requires that you shall during the month of March or April appoint a forest warden, such appointment being subject to the approval of the state forester. It is requested that this appointment be made at your next meeting in March in order that we may have an organization complete before the season commences. If the forest warden has been efficient we earnestly request that he be retained.

Very truly yours,
M. C. Hutchins,
State Fire Warden.

board of assessors to raise the sum of $1,150,500 by assessment on polls and estates, to defray the current expenses of the city for the fiscal year beginning Jan. 1, 1913 and ending December 31, 1913 was voted.

Auditing of City's Books

An order submitted by Ald. Brown recommending that Chas Gettemy of the bureau of statistics and labor be awarded the contract to audit the city's books was read by the mayor and Mr. Brown read a communication from Mr. Gettemy which appeared in yesterday's editions. After reading the letter Mr. Brown moved the adoption of the order and his motion was seconded by Ald. Barrett. It was voted to have a hearing on the matter on March 25.

Alderman Brown Objects

Alderman Brown, speaking to a question of privilege said that on Friday one of the commissioners went to the auditor with a bill for the payment of two fire automobiles and the auditor issued a draft for the amount, over $1,000. He did not think the machines were legally purchased, claiming that the same objection made in the case of the Knox auto applied to the other two. He thought he should have been notified. The bill was approved by the other four commissioners.

Dust of H. F. Butler

Dr. Walter A. Sherman was confirmed as Inspector of animals.

Mr. Barrett asked that he be given permission to have the purchasing agent call for bids for 75 six-inch gate valve hydrants, each with three 2 1/2-in. outlet valves. The bid stand places the cost to be about $2500. It was voted to grant the permission asked.

The mayor read a letter from Mrs. Ann Kitson, wife of the noted sculptor, the late Samuel J. Kitson, concerning a bust of the late H. F. Butler, which she hoped the council would purchase.

Action was laid over for a week.

The Belle Isle Hearing

The hearing on petition of V. H. J. Belle Isle for appointment as constable, went on once more, after postponement for several weeks.

James Stuart Murphy, counsel for Mr. Belle Isle, read a long list of names of people who subscribed that Mr. Belle Isle is a sober and industrious man and entirely satisfactory as constable. Many of those who signed the petition were Friends of the accused.

"Charles have been brought out here that Mr. Belle Isle is not a citizen," said Mr. Murphy. "I think everything shows he is a citizen of Lowell. Also the charge has been made that he was in bankruptcy, and this is admitted, but it was his misfortune, not his fault."

"Also, there is one other matter I wish to bring up. The mayor who is also our presiding officer on this case has appointed himself collector of the estate, annexed, of the late James J. Belle Isle. Also, it appears in the schedule of debts that the undertaking firm of J. O'Donnell & Sons is one of the creditors."

"I deem it an extraordinary thing that a man who has served with credit and ability should have his petition for appointment as constable held up. The washing of dirty linen before this council is a regrettable thing. It is a family affair, matters of personal spite, malice and spleen, and the game is hardly worth the candle. I also say that Mr. Belle Isle has taken unto himself another wife."

At the present time she is in a serious condition as a result of an automobile accident.

"My own opinion is, that should the council appoint him or refuse to appoint him a constable, it would make little difference. With His Honor sitting on this case, I believe that whatever this council does will not be legal."

The mayor's connection with the estate of Mrs. Hannah J. Belle Isle forbids him from taking part in this case. If he does, I believe that there may be almost endless litigation.

"In consideration of the expense attendant upon the continuation of this case, and in consideration of the condition of his sick wife, Mr. Belle Isle desires to withdraw his petition. He is not showing the white feather, because he is not constituted that way, and neither am I. But because of home conditions, because of the condition of his wife, because he does not want any more dirty linen washed here, he asks that his petition for appointment as constable be withdrawn."

"And in view of the memory, in which Mr. Belle Isle holds his former wife, I ask that the papers be returned."

Albert S. Howard, appearing for Mr. Gately, said it was a matter of great gratification to him and to his client that Mr. Murphy had agreed to withdraw the petition.

He further spoke, mainly to the effect that Mr. Gately's action was not due to malice or spleen.

Mr. Drury's Election

Mayor O'Donnell moved, and it was so voted, that a ballot be taken for the position of member of the board of health. There was no choice on the first ballot. Messrs. Barrett and Brown voted for John A. Osgood, Mr. Cummings for John J. Sullivan, and Messrs. Donnelly and O'Donnell for John E. Drury.

The mayor again moved that a ballot be taken for the election of a member of the board of health. Still no choice. Mr. Barrett alone voted for Mr. Osgood. Mr. Brown switched to Mr. Sullivan. Mr. Cummings still stuck to Mr. Sullivan. Messrs. Donnelly and O'Donnell were still with Drury.

On the third and last ballot, Mr. Barrett voted for Mr. Drury. Mr. Brown voted for William P. F. Kenevick. Mr. Cummings for Mr. Sullivan, and Messrs. Donnelly and O'Donnell for Drury, and the latter was declared elected.

Mr. Knapp Re-elected

Mr. Barrett moved that a ballot be taken for a sinking fund commissioner, the term of Charles L. Knapp having expired on January 1st. It was so voted. Messrs. Barrett, Cummings and O'Donnell voted for Mr. Knapp, who was declared re-elected. Messrs. Brown and Donnelly voted for Frank McGlynn.

Extension of Streets

Mr. Cummings asked that the commissioner of streets and highways submit to the council at its next meeting the estimates of the cost of extending Fairmount street and Clitherow street, as per petitions respectively of F. E. Danbar and E. Garfield Baker. It was voted.

Mr. Cummings further asked that the commissioner of streets and highways prepare an estimate of the cost of extending Porter street, from High street to Pleasant street, and submit it at the next meeting.

Mr. Barrett wanted the commissioner of streets and highways to bring before the council at its next meeting the estimates of the cost of extending Main street through to Hancock avenue. He said that this would make Main street a one-way street, a much to be desired improvement. Since the first of the year there have been 14 accidents on the street and one recently had been of so serious a nature that the city is likely to be sued. The public safety demands that this

WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND

WIFE FOUND HER HUSBAND WITH ANOTHER WOMAN

She Opened Fire Upon Them—Was Arrested Shortly After Shooting—Tragedy at Memphis, Tenn.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 12.—Finding her husband alone with a woman who gave her name as Mrs. L. A. Howell, in an uptown flat last night, Mrs. August Schleber opened fire upon them with a pistol. Schleber, who is president of a lumber company here, was so badly wounded that he died soon after. The woman was wounded in the right arm. Mrs. Schleber was arrested at her home shortly after the shooting. According to the arresting officer she did not appear perturbed, and after inquiring whether "she was dead" turned over to him a pistol with five empty shells in it. When told that her husband was mortally wounded she is said to have replied: "Then it was for nothing after all."

Schleber, who was reputed to be wealthy, came to Memphis several years ago from Mount Vernon, Ind. He was about 35 years of age. Mrs. Schleber gave her age as 35. Mrs. Howell is said to have formerly lived in Vincennes, Ind.

UNITED IRISH LEAGUE

Chicago Orator at Sunday Evening Meeting

The United Irish league committee in charge of the monster free meeting to be held in Associate hall, Sunday evening, March 16th, are striving to make the demonstration in aid of home rule for Ireland unique in the annals of such celebrations in Lowell. Since Hon. P. J. O'Keefe of Chicago, volunteered his services four weeks ago, the committee has left no stone unturned to arouse public enthusiasm and they are confident that their efforts will be crowned with success. It is planned to make the great Sunday night meeting a real St. Patrick's Day celebration. Hon. P. J. O'Keefe is a man of national prominence and has been identified with some of the greatest public movements of this country. He counts among his personal friends some of America's distinguished citizens as well as the leaders of the Irish parliamentary party. He is a man of rare personal magnetism and because of his personal experiences in the struggle for Irish freedom his story has an interest that only such personal experience can give. He proved his love for Ireland in darker days when he languished in prison as a political prisoner and he is just as ardent in the cause today notwithstanding the pressure of large business interests both here and in Europe.

Humphrey O'Sullivan who is to preside at the Sunday night meeting will meet Mr. O'Keefe at the Hotel Touraine on Saturday night, and take him as his guest to the banquet of the Charitable Irish society in the Copley Plaza hotel that evening. Besides Mr. O'Keefe, plans are under way to secure another speaker whose name is known throughout New England and the league hopes to be able to make definite announcement concerning him in the press, Friday, March 15th.

Mr. James J. Flynn, the famous Boston baritone, will sing several Irish ballads and will lead the singing of "God Save Ireland" at the close of the meeting. Miss Florence Hague and other local singers will also contribute and the event promises to be worthy of St. Patrick, Ireland, and Home Rule. Decorator Toing has been employed to put up suitable decorations in the hall and over the platform in large letters will be the inscription, "Ireland a Nation."

BIBLIOGRAPH OF U. S. LAWS

WASHINGTON, March 12.—With the declaration that the United States had taken such a commanding position in the family of nations the most comprehensive knowledge of both international and continental laws was imperative. Edwin Bouchard, law librarian of the congress today issued a bibliography of those laws. It is a comprehensive digest of 93 pages.

To enable the student of world conditions to systematize and guide his investigation and to identify and indicate the legal literature of foreign lands, Mr. Bouchard declared was the object of his work.

Followers of Venustian Carranza, Rebel Governor, Surrounded by Federal Troops

MEXICO CITY, March 12.—Followers of Venustiano Carranza, the rebel governor of the state of Coahuila to the number of approximately 2000 have been surrounded in the vicinity of Lampazos in the state of Nuevo Leon by 4000 federal troops, according to report issued by the war department. A decisive engagement is expected to be fought in the course of today. General Truzy Aubert, General Blasquez, General Anaya and General Rafael Davilla in command of the federal forces are reported to have arrived in the outskirts of Lampazos during the night but it is not certain that Carranza has remained with his followers. The departure of troop trains for the north throughout the night and this morning made the railroad stations in the federal capital a busy scene. Most of the troops left in the direction of the state of Sonora. They included many detachments of the auxiliary branches of the service besides a full battalion of the 13th infantry, a machine gun company and a battery of artillery with heavy siege guns. An additional 3000 regular troops are to leave the capital this afternoon for Sonora.

Cutting of Wires

The cutting of communication between Hermosillo and the seaport of Guaymas has given rise to much anxiety in Guaymas, according to newspaper despatches received here from that place. Reports indicate that rebels to the number of 1600 and with four rapid fire guns are fortified in the neighborhood. Guaymas has a garrison of 100 federal troops. The Mexican gunboats Tampico and General Guerrero are stationed there as well as the American armored cruiser Colorado.

It is expected that the schedule committee of the N. Y. England league will complete its business today. A meeting will be called later in the week of representatives of all the clubs which compose the circuit for the purpose of arranging the new schedule.

From present indications the annual B. A. A. marathon on April 19th, will be the biggest in point of entrants as the Boston club has ever pulled off. Entries are already pouring in from all over the east, and the latest addition are two entries from Bermuda.

The St. Louis Americans were defeated yesterday in their game with the Waco, Texas, team of the Texas league by the score of 6 to 4. "Billy" McMahon proved the star of the game for the Waco team with a brace of home runs, one with two men on base. Whistling the tallest man playing big league ball today was one of the pitchers used by St. Louis.

In their first scrub game of the season the Red Sox champions showed up yesterday, both fielding as well as on the bats. O'Connor, formerly on this circuit, was the only player who made an error in the six innings that were played. Speaker was right there with two hits for a total of four bases and a brace of runs. The regulars were the winners by the score of 5 to 7.

Negotiations are on between Manager Gray and the Bridgeport management for an exchange of pitchers. The players named in the proposed shift are Blum of Lowell and Dorrance of the Conn. club. Manager Gray has been impressed by what he has seen, and heard of Dorrance and considers that he would make a telling addition to the pitching staff of the local club.

Although Dartmouth was beaten out for the inter-collegiate basketball championship she has two men, Margaret, center, and Snow, left forward, the all-college that have just been chosen. Cornell, Penn, and Columbia each have one player on this aggregation. Although the Navy team has gone through the season with a clean slate, the experts have not seen fit to give any of her quintet recognition.

The Buckley family, barring accidents, will prove one of the greatest athlete families that the country has ever produced. We know all about Charlie, the Harvard football sensation of last fall, but critics say that his two brothers, George and Joe, who will enter Exeter next fall are built on better lines than their older brother. George is a senior at Everett high, while Joe is a second year boy at the same school.

The high school battery candidates responded to the call of Captain Gibbons yesterday afternoon and a busy two hours were spent at the high school grounds. Most of the boys were in the practice as the coach has not been selected yet. The pitchers were not allowed to loosen up to any great extent although some of them allowed that they had been practicing outdoors for some time past. The material which appeared yesterday looked as though a fast aggregation might be developed this year.

Henry Meyers and Johnny Munice, both of Charlestown, who will appear in the main bout at this week's meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club are training hard for the match and both promise to be in the best possible condition when the time comes for them to jump into the ring. The winner will be hailed as the champion of Charlestown, and with this as an incentive, along with the promise of the winner being matched up with some of the title claimants in other sections of the country, both will try hard to come out on the long end. Munice recently met Phil McGovern at the local club and boxed a draw with the lively Brooklyn scrapper. He also met Al Delmont here and in that contest, too, a draw decision was given. Among the most notable performers that Meyers has met are Knockout Brown and Pal Moore, and the Charlestown boxer forced these clever men to step their hardest to stay with him. In the semi final Johnny Boyle, who on Monday night won his bout at Salem, will meet Reddy McDonald, of Nova Scotia, who is a sparring partner for Mickie McEntyre, the well known welterweight. Boyle is in good shape and should show to good advantage. He is meeting with great success since reentering the ring this season and his friends feel confident that he will be returned the winner in Friday night's bout. In the first preliminary, Young Cooney and Young Sullivan will meet and in the other finale Boyle will tackle Young Connolly.

FIVE INJURED IN GAS EXPLOSION

Members of Revere Family Sought
Leak With Lighted Match—
House Wrecked

BOSTON, March 12.—The lighting of a match in an effort to trace a gas leak in a two-family wooden dwelling at 37 Carlton street, Revere, yesterday, resulted in an explosion which injured five persons, two of whom received serious burns, and wrecked the structure.

The Injured

Leary, Mrs. Alice, a bride of one month, aged 21. Serious burns about face and upper part of body.

Connors, Harry, aged 18, brother of Mrs. Leary. Serious burns about face and upper part of body; believed to have inhaled flames. Both are expected to recover.

Connors, Arthur, aged 14. Minor burns about face.

Connors, Mrs. Charles, aged 42. Slight burns about hands, shock, and sprained right ankle.

Reagan, James H., aged 23. Lynn newspaper man. Contusions on legs sustained by falling.

Employees of a gas company, making preparations to install a meter, are said to witnesses to have left a gas cock open in the bathroom on the second floor, which resulted in the flow of gas.

The house was a new one owned by E. H. Basket and Benjamin Coleman, and was only finished on Monday of this week. The same day the Connors family moved in on the lower floor. Yesterday noon Mrs. Leary, who lives at 61 Ambrose street, came over to assist her mother, Mrs. Connors, in unpacking.

Dwelling Wrecked

A strong smell of gas was noticed. The two women and two boys started to locate it. Their search brought them to the upper floor and finally to the bathroom. The older boy, Harry, lit a match in order to see better. With the sputter of the match there came a sheet of flame and explosion which hurled all four to the ground.

Mrs. Leary and Harry Connors were knocked unconscious.

Neighbors notified the firemen and two alarms were sounded, bringing Chelsea and Revere apparatus to the scene. The house, however, did not catch fire. The injured were taken to Mrs. Leary's house at 61 Ambrose street and attended to by Dr. L. P. Park.

The force of the explosion shivered nearly every pane of glass in the house, expanded the walls on both sides to the extent of about 10 feet or more, sagged the ceiling, rent great holes through the roof, twisted the interior walls on the upper floor out of all semblance of shape, and left the upper floor a tangled mass of wreckage. On the lower floor the plaster was torn clean from the walls. Shoring was used to prevent the walls from collapsing. A chimney on an adjacent house was smashed by flying wreckage.

The explosion was heard for a radius of a mile around and brought hundreds of excited spectators to the scene. Arthur H. Reagan, a Lynn newspaper man and resident in the vicinity, was among the first to aid in the rescue work. He fell from the upper floor through a space between the edge of the floor and forced-out wall, to a sink on a lower floor, but escaped with a few bruises.

Will Rebuild House

One of the owners stated that the building had cost more than $5000 and that it was insured for $1500. He declared it would be impossible to repair it. "It will have to be taken down and built anew," he said. Another family was to have moved into the upper story today.

Charles Connors, the head of the injured family, is employed in a grocery and meat market at Revere street and Broadway. Mrs. Leary's husband, W. C. Leary, is employed at the Forbes Lithograph Works. Charles Harry, the older boy, works with his father.

The chauffeur was tried and fined yesterday for the second time within four days. On both occasions the negro pleaded he was taking the governor for a ride.

In the first case the fine of $3.75 was paid and the governor promptly issued a pardon for his chauffeur. This was ignored by Chief Cathcart pending legal advice regarding the state executive's authority in municipal cases.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES UNDERWOOD

Democratic Majority Leader of the House Had Conference With President Wilson

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Representative Oscar Underwood, the democratic majority leader of the house had his first conference at the White House today with President Wilson. Though he had no previous engagement, Mr. Underwood got to the executive office ahead of the fixed list of callers and was immediately received by the president.

The engagement list for today included Senator Overman of North Carolina; former Rep. Randall of Texas; former Speaker Cannon, Vance McCormick; Senator Newlands of Nevada; Reps. Hay of Virginia, Pepper and Kirkpatrick of Iowa; Wayne MacVeagh, Henry St. George Tucker, Richmond, Va., and Rep. Sims of Tennessee. A special cabinet meeting was called for 11 o'clock. It was said that so much of the time yesterday had been devoted to a discussion of Latin-American policy that the cabinet remained for the settling of many assistant secretaries.

In the east room of the White House later in the day the president planned to receive William C. Eustis, R. T. Brooks and M. L. Weller of the local inaugural committee who presented to him a gold inaugural medal. Solicitor-General Bullitt and Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the house money trust investigating committee, also were to pay their respects in the east room. Later in the afternoon the president and Mrs. Wilson planned to receive the diplomatic corps and their families.

The president today received a formal cablegram from the mayor of Carlisle, England, expressing in behalf of the town council the hearty congratulations on his assumption of the presidency. It was in Carlisle that President Wilson's grandfather was born. The president sent a cablegram of appreciation.

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Nature warns you when the track of health is not clear. Kidney and bladder troubles compel you to pass water often during the day and get up many times during the night.

Unhealthy kidneys cause lumbago, rheumatism, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints or muscles, at times have headache or indigestion, as time passes you may have a sallow complexion, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, sometimes feel as though you had heart trouble, may have plenty of ambition but no strength, get weak and lose flesh.

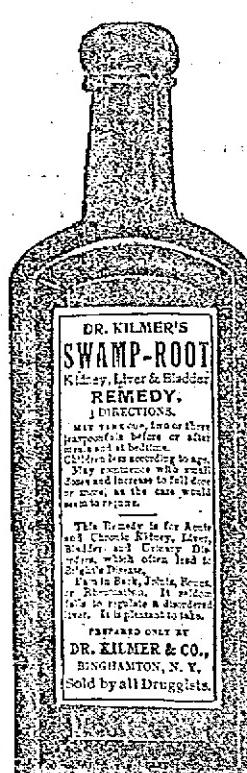

If such conditions are permitted to continue, serious results are sure to follow: Bright's disease, the very worst form of kidney trouble, may steal upon you.

Prevalence of Kidney Disease

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease constantly undermines the system.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run down condition, begin taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It will help the other organs to health. If such conditions are permitted to continue, serious results are sure to follow: Bright's disease, the very worst form of kidney trouble, may steal upon you.

EDITORIAL NOTICE. To prove the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. FRES. WILSON URGED TO POSTPONE DATE OF EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, March 12.—President Wilson was urged by Rep. Underwood, the democratic leader, today, to postpone the date of the extra session of congress at least one week. As a result of Mr. Underwood's suggestion recently the president had fixed April 1. Mr. Underwood today advised the president that the ways and means committee would require more time in preparing the new tariff bills.

Inasmuch as Mr. Wilson has said that he would be guided by the counsel of house leaders it was regarded as practically certain today that the new congress would not convene before April 7 or 8. Mr. Underwood discussed with the president the advisability of including anything more than the tariff in his first message to congress. It was expected that the proclamation calling the new congress would be submitted to the cabinet today. The president's proclamation is expected to point out that the extra session is called for the purpose of revising the tariff alone. Mr. Underwood assured President Wilson today that house leaders would be able to confine the attention of congress to that subject although several democrats interested in other legislative matters are still anxious to have them now considered.

Mr. Underwood said as he left the White House that the democratic caucus would decide whether the tariff was to be revised in one bill or each schedule taken up separately. As the bill has been prepared, he said, it will be an easy task for the caucus to decide either quickly.

PICKETER BADLY INJURED

DISTURBANCE AMONG THE BOSTON STRIKERS

BOSTON, March 12.—In a scuffle between strike pickets and non-union workers in the garment manufacturing district today one picket was so badly injured that it was necessary to take him to a hospital. Another disturbance resulted in two pickets, girls, being arrested for assault.

GOVERNMENT TESTS ARE PROCEEDING SLOWLY

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Government tests of Dr. Friedmann's tubercle vaccine in the public health service hygienic laboratory here are proceeding under difficulties because the Berlin physician has not imparted to the official investigators the methods of making his vaccine from the culture nor has he divulged the dose, in spite of the fact that public health officials repeatedly have asked him to do so.

Surg.-Gen. Blue announced today that the official medical board has increased four-fold the letters from all parts of the country from tuberculosis sufferers begging for an opportunity to offer themselves as subjects for tests. He reiterated today that under no circumstances would the public health service administer the vaccine to human beings at this time, if at all.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

WASHINGTON, March 12.—With the democratic committee lists of the senate nearly completed members of that body today expect that the special session would terminate before the end of the week. The republican caucus was called for one o'clock to consider the republican assignments and the policies to be pursued in asking the democrats for committee places and bills with them or anything else that may properly interest them. If he treats them right they will tell him all their affairs; but if he gives them a cuff and a slap or meets them with cross words they will naturally avoid him, not through any fault of theirs, but because they are afraid to do anything else.

Some fathers again use the rod on their children in a manner that does harm instead of good. "Spare the rod and spoil the child," is an old saying, but many parents, with good intention, "will admit," said the reverend preacher, "that there are cases in which corporal punishment is an absolute necessity; but even then it must be used with caution and good judgment. Unless the father has control of his children under the age of 15 years, he is not likely to be able to influence them very much after that age, when they may need a father's guidance as the mysteries of life dawn upon their minds."

Rev. Fr. Stanton next dealt with the care of young girls by their parents, condemning most emphatically the parents who allow their young daughters to be out on the streets at night, to go to cheap dances or to associate in any manner with boys. The father and the "big brother" should know who the fellow is who calls around after the young daughter and sister. They should investigate her beau and his habits and associations are not all right they should start him down the road when he calls.

Rev. Fr. Stanton told his audience that if they had young men who supposed to be decent try to degrade young girls they would blush for shame. The girls are not bad, but when an innocent girl is surrounded by deceivers how long is she going to hold her innocence. In the mills and factories, there are girls who are actual saints, girls who resist the corrupting influences that surround them day and night and year after year. Parents must take care that their daughters are guarded against all such dangers.

In the latter part of his sermon Rev. Fr. Stanton scored the young men who in their homes act as "contemptible curs" to their mothers and sisters, while putting on an air of gentility outside. They take about any kind of girl out for a walk leaving their sisters or perhaps their poor mothers without the necessities of life. Why is it they can never spare enough to take their sister or mother out?

If a man told of the mean things some young men do to their mothers, how seldom they speak a pleasant word to another or even smile, it would make most mothers sacrifice to support and educate the young man that now ill-treats them or in some cases feels ashamed of them. The preacher said these young men are violating God's commandment in thus abusing their parents. He then described how a son could bring joy to the heart of his parents by a pleasant word or a kind act and in assisting them in all their necessities. There is nothing in this world, he said, that makes a parent so happy as the love and kindness of a dutiful son.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House

A faultless performance of the Presby-Horning play "Raffles," is being given at the Opera House this week by The Lonergan Players. The production is under the personal direction of Lester Lonergan and with Mr. Lonergan appearing in the name part. This week for the first time local theatricals have been accorded the opportunity of witnessing an acting of Mr. Lonergan's ability. The play, featuring in stock organization and the artistic and delightful characterization that he gives the central figure of this drama, the delicate and subtle interpretation of the author's lines and the effective portrayal of the character of Raffles, is a reproduction of the ordinary "stock" performances. The supporting company are also seen to excellent advantage in the roles assigned them, playing with an intelligence, earnestness and care that mark the performances of the amateur companies. The Lonergan Players are on high planes of excellence. "Raffles" will be given every afternoon and evening during the present week and indications point to one of the most successful weeks of the present engagement. Next week comes the play "Mollie" and the company will be seen in a dramatization of Marie Corelli's famous story, "Thelma," a play that will serve to introduce Miss Irene Timmons, the new leading woman of the company. Seats are on sale one week in advance.

PARENTS AND THEIR CHILDREN POLICEMEN MADE SILLY REMARKS

Their Reciprocal Duties Told by Suffragettes Say Officers Were Rough, Coarse Men—Other Testimony at Hearing

Rev. Fr. Stanton, O. P., at the Immaculate Conception

WASHINGTON, March 12.—When the senate committee inquiring into the failure of the police to afford proper protection to the suffragist parade on the eve of the 100th anniversary of the birth of the late Gen. George Washington, adjourned yesterday, it was decided to postpone the hearing until after the annual commissioners' meeting, when Commissioner John A. Johnson had concluded his testimony, begun yesterday, in which he applauded the efforts of the police and the preparations made by Major Sylvester, superintendent of police.

Major Sylvester has defended his preparations for protecting the women marchers and the police blame for failing to do their duty squarely on the shoulders of his subordinates. Further details of the difficulties experienced by the marchers in the suffrage parade were told today by women and men.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ballock described the special policemen as "rough, coarse men, whose attitude was facetious and who made all sorts of foolish remarks."

Mrs. Olive Hasbrouck and Mrs. Randolph Forest told of policing a portion of the crowd at the end of the 100th anniversary, when some of the marchers after vainly appealing to the police.

"We had no difficulty then," said Mrs. Hasbrouck. "The people were willing to do what we asked."

Mrs. Forest said three National Guardsmen jumped on boat which she accompanied and tore down some of the decorations.

Miss Miller, a Washington lawyer, testifying at 1:30, told of 150 policemen he saw along the line of march only two or three were taking active steps to keep the crowd back.

Mrs. Ella Waumbaugh of Cambridge, Mass., said that the policemen that she saw were doing nothing to keep back the crowd and seemed interested in the parade.

THREE INJURED IN RIOT ADM. GOZZO ARRESTED

Mounted Officers Patrol Fist Fight Causes Sensation in Rome

ERIE, Penn., Streets

ROMA, March 12.—A fist fight between Admiral Padeval Catolica, the minister of marine, and Admiral Gozzo, recently retired from the navy, caused a sensation today. Admiral Gozzo met the minister of marine on the street and boxed his ears and Admiral Catolica energetically retaliated. The two combatants were stopped by bystanders and arrested three strikers. Following the arrests 500 strikers held an indignation meeting. They claim the shooting was caused by police brutalities. The striking stove makers demand a complete union system in Erie. It is said that nearly 1000 men are out, the strike affecting about a dozen manufacturers.

Dr. Jeffries today said his wife had suffered from hallucinations and that his daughter had been overwrought by constant attendance on her.

MOLLY VARNUM CHAPTER BANQUET

Mrs. C. D. Palmer Made
a Very Interesting
Address

The members of Molly Varnum chapter, D. A. R., entertained the state officers yesterday afternoon at the Spalding house, the affair taking the form of a reception and luncheon. The affair was largely attended and a splendid afternoon was spent. A delicious repast was served and there was followed by interesting speeches.

At the close of the banquet Mrs. M. J. Howe, rapport to order and she introduced as to audience Mrs. Henry M. Thompson, who spoke of the rapid growth of the D. A. R. society, and the efficient services rendered by the local members of this progressive agency. She introduced as the next speaker Mrs. Charles H. Bond, who responded to the toast, "Massachusetts and Continental Hall." Mrs. Bond, who is vice president general of the national D. A. R. and who resides in Boston, spoke in part as follows:

"Massachusetts may be known to call the mother state of the Union but Massachusetts cannot claim the title of mother to the D. A. R. organization, for that was founded in Washington. The first chapter, I am told, was formed in the city of Chicago, Ill., Massachusetts now mothers at least one-twelfth of the total membership, and many daughters from other states trace their revolutionary ancestry back to her. So, if not exactly the mother, she might perhaps be called the grandmother of the D. A. R. organization."

She described the Vermont marble memorial hall which is the permanent home of the organization in Washington and said: "We have recently secured a room to be known as the Massachusetts room. A thousand dollars has been contributed to the general fund in order to have this room thus named. So it seems to me that it is between the Massachusetts D. A. R. that it is properly furnished. When this is done, Massachusetts should be better enabled toward helping to wipe out the remaining debt on our national home. Nearly $75,000 has already been expended on the building and furnishings, and the debt has recently been reduced to about $150,000."

A letter of protest from State Regent Mrs. J. G. Manning, for not being present was read by Mrs. Thompson.

The next speaker was Mrs. Charles D. Palmer of Lowell, who responded to the toast, "The Promised Land." She spoke in part as follows: "When our assistant historian general—energetic, efficient, enterprising, always esteemed ex-regent—when this persuasive person asked me to respond today, to the sentiment, 'The Promised Land,' I replied instantly, 'There was an order for too large for me to fill.' Then the thought dashed over me, what an opportunity! If I only felt it was fair to take advantage of it! My friend had forgotten for a moment, that she is a militant 'anti' and I, the president of the Lowell Equal Suffrage League! How tragic to use this occasion to make a special plea for votes for women! I am not going to do it. I felt that it would be almost a betrayal of friendship. Virtue is its own reward however. No argument could approach in potency, the effect of a certain parade in Washington last week."

"The promised land. When the children of Israel reached the end of their wanderings, Moses sent people ahead to report upon the land which they were entering. Some found it a good land; others, with fear and trembling, said it was a land that ate up the inhabitants thereof. Our country—Mary Antin's promised land—is a good land or an evil, to the many men of many minds who inhabit it, according to the point of view. To the immigrant, it is a land of promise. To the toilers, the workers in the factories, it seems, perhaps, a land of blighted hopes, of industrial slavery. There are those who still claim it is a government by the people, of the people and for the people, and there are others who claim it is a land of plutocracy. Some say it is a land of high ideals; others that it is a land of gross materialism. It is the land of the free and the home of the brave—or it is the home of a privileged class and high finance. Among all of these conflicting opin-
